praised Hidden Coast of California: Including San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Monterey, San Francisco, and Mendocino:

With over 500 pages dedicated exclusively to the California coast, this is a guidebook of contrasts. Three major cities (San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego) are covered yet the majority of the guide describes charming coastal communities (Santa Barbara, Monterey, Mendocino...) as well as over 1000 miles of beaches and coastline. The author reviews traditional travel attractions then leads travelers to dozens of hidden spots as well as small hotel and restaurant gems. Perfectly suited for out-of-state visitors, this guide also offers locals countless suggestions for weekend getaways.

The Hidden guidebook series hot-peppers its pages with little arrows that point to a multitude of off-the-tourist-track sites. About the Author Award-winning travel author Ray Riegert began his guidebook writing career with the classic Hidden Hawaii. What was the secret to this cult favourite? Beaches, beaches and more beaches. Ray loves the beach and was shocked to discover that other guidebooks hardly describe the beaches at all. Ray never tires of spending a day visiting the California beaches near his home in Berkeley and describing the sand he sits on, water he swims in, and views he enjoys - not to mention the little towns, inns and restaurants around each beach.
