A delightful happy read of how you can be, do and act upon the real mission of Your Soul. There is a song that says it all. --- "If you want more happy than your heart can hold, if you want to stand taller if the truth were told, Take whatever you have and give it away If you want less lonely and a lot more fun And deep satisfaction when the day is done Take whatever you have and give it away" --- If you are having a lousy day, then open to God and go to www.OneChildMatters.org --- May All who read this be blessed AND SO IT IS! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great story and motivates you to want to travel and help others By Rafael Marrero This was such a great book to read for anyone with a passion to travel and help people less fortunate. The way the author captured the daily experiences of Rod Bailey's letters made me see how nice people in other countries can be. I'm motivated to see south America and hopefully leave my mark like Mr. Bailey was able to. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. a touching manuscript By Jeff I thoroughly enjoyed the plight of the story. The characters really made the story captivating and although the end was abrupt I felt it told the overall story well

Dr. Rod Bailey was sent on a once-in-a-lifetime mission trip to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, as part of the One Child Matters Program. With some reservations, he enters into a land where driving recklessly on crowded streets is normal, roosters crow from the rusty rooftops, and the strong coffee gets no creamer. But, the greater lessons lie in his interaction he has with the proud people, the grateful children, and the mission he came to serve. Join Dr. Bailey in his five day journey of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, July 2013.
