The Lewis and Clark Adventure Like You Have Never Heard BeforeBy Ginny MapesA little different take on the famous Lewis and Clark journey, In full view: A true and accurate account of Lewis and Clark by Rex Ziak. The Pacific Northwest author has studied Lewis Clark's journals and lived in the Pacific Northwest. He has walked the beaches and traveled the river so his knowledge is close up and personal to relate the travels in which some of the details were not always known. With beautiful photographs, wonderful layouts and accurate maps, the author weaves the story complete with quotes from the journals. This is a treasure and is a must-read for the history buff. Local libraries and schools will find this very informative. As the author tells of the early windy, rainy travels where the clothing is soaking wet, along with the bedding the reader will shiver knowing the harsh conditions experienced by the travelers. Then the waves beat against the rocks and the tides makes the river rise, there is nowhere to sleep on the rocks and the mountainside so steep there is nowhere else to go what they endured!

This history reads like fiction, but you know it is all true. I love history and you will love this fine book!
