Made me realize just how much I have fun on the company!By ChaleighAs the Business Travel Columnist at BellaOnline.com, I recommend this book to anyone who has forgotten how to have fun on biz travel. This is a great present to give to any road warrior!I was given this book as a gift from a friend because after being a road warrior for over 10 years.... I was complaining about ALL the travel. Well, my friend felt that I was forgetting about all the great things about being a road warrior and bought me this book.After reading this book, I realized how much we (road warriors) do have fun on the company's nickel.... and how at times we need to relax more when away for work.The author does an fantastic job of showcasing the sights and sounds around the world that he has visited while throwing in some great tips! A quick read.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Frank Perkins' wonderful book for the business traveller.By Robert C. DavisI knew Perkins when he was making these trips. I especially enjoyed his photographs, as well as his prose describing his extracurricular wanderings. If you are a business traveller who ever wondered what to do with your free time, READ THIS BOOK! You will learn a thing or two. -Bob Davis

This book is a collection of memories of the sights, sounds, adventures, mishaps, meals and lodgings experienced on business trips and vacations "on the way" all over the world.

...Both fun and educational...Don't leave it on your desk. -- Orlando SentinelAbout the AuthorFrank Perkins has been an electronic engineer for over 30 years. Some of his projects required testing in far-flung areas of the world. He has traveled to over 35 countries on business and pleasure. Now retired from a salaried engineering job, his projects currently include photography, writing, fly fishing and volunteer expeditions around the world.
